

About the Can-SOLVE CKD Network

Can-SOLVE CKD is a Canada-wide network of kidney patients, researchers, health care providers, policy-makers, and caregivers. We are seeking solutions and innovations that will transform kidney health for the four million Canadians living with chronic kidney disease.

It is our vision that by 2020 all Canadians living with or at risk for chronic kidney disease will receive the best recommended care, experience optimal outcomes, and have the opportunity to participate in studies with new therapies.

I believe the Can-SOLVE CKD Network research projects can change the face of kidney disease for all by involving patients and their caregivers in this process.

Cathy Woods

Co-Chair, Patient Council

Co-Chair, Indigenous Peoples' Engagement & Research Council

Patients are at the heart of everything we do

- Our Patient Council and Indigenous Peoples' Engagement and Research Council ensure the unique perspectives of patients are represented in the design, execution, interpretation, and communication of our research projects.
- The network's research program is based around three priorities identified in consultation with patients, their families, and caregivers:

Earlier diagnosis

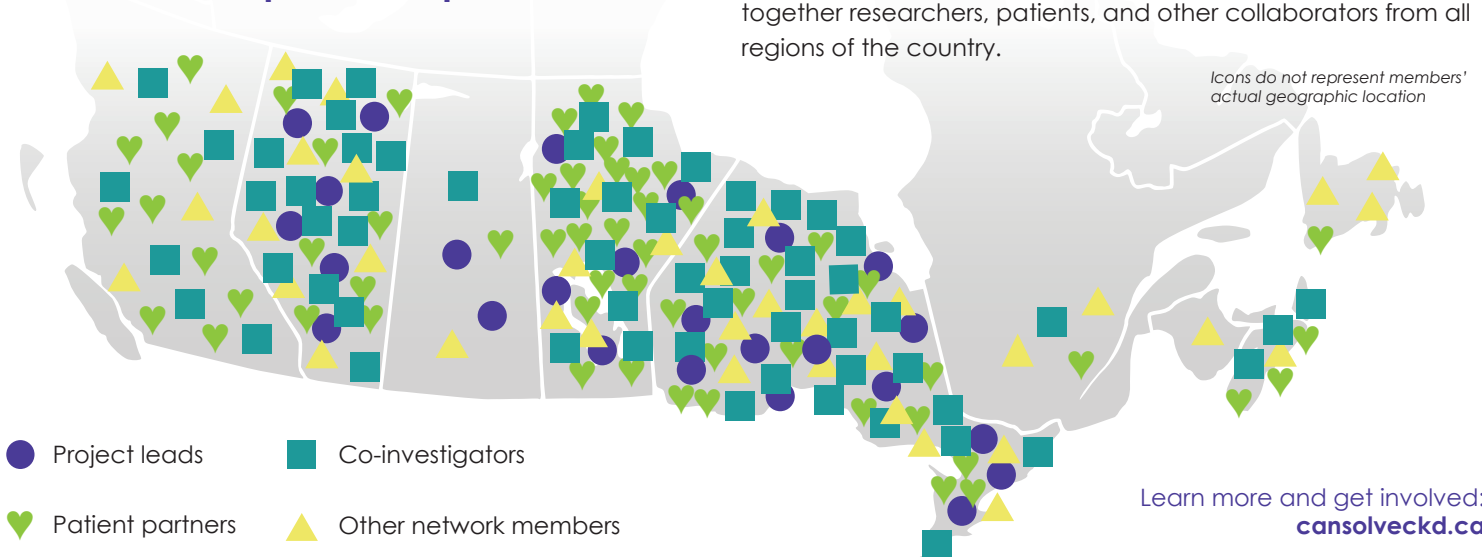

Better treatments

Optimal care

A coast-to-coast partnership

- Our 18 research projects are truly national in scope, bringing together researchers, patients, and other collaborators from all regions of the country.

Learn more and get involved:
cansolveckd.ca